

One day awareness program on “Cyber Crime” organized by the NSS unit of ICFAI University Meghalaya, Tura in collaboration with the Meghalaya police – October 04, 2018 (10 .am)

“Cyber crime is the latest and perhaps the most complicated problem in the cyber world. In order to create awareness on its danger and help students tackle it, a daylong awareness programme on cyber crime and security awareness was organized by the National Service Scheme of ICFAI University Meghalaya, Tura campus in collaboration with Meghalaya police for students on the 4th October’ 2018. The programme was inaugurated by Deputy Superintendent of Police GW Lyngdoh who highlighted the dangers of cyber crime and gave valuable suggestions on ways to tackle it. He presented various case studies and videos about cyber crime and how to avoid or fight against it in today’s fast changing world where technology is the latest weapon in crime.

Police officers from the cyber wing, Sub Inspectors R G Momin and M Chettri, covered topics on the introduction to cyber crime and various terminologies, types of cyber crime along with combating methods and the advantages and disadvantages of social media.

The students were particularly advised on the “Do’s and Don’ts” of social media and were also encouraged to spread awareness regarding cyber crimes. Earlier, the Dean of ICFAI University Meghalaya, Mrs. Viola Sonachi B Sangma delivered the welcome address laying stress on the need for awareness in today’s world where the internet plays a key role in people’s lives.
